New Conference By Big 3 Seen As Essential

(See Text Page 10)

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill warned the House of Commons today that, despite German losses approaching the 1,000,000 mark in northwestern Europe, the war might still continue into 1945.

He indicated he considered a new three-power meeting to include Premier Marshal Stalin was essential before revelation of peace plans.

Opening a two-day war and peace debate, the Prime Minister made these points, among others:

1. Perhaps 200,000 Germans are trapped in Holland and their capture or destruction appears "highly probable."
2. German losses in France, Belgium and Holland since D-Day can now be placed officially at 400,000 killed and wounded, with nearly 500,000 more as prisoners.
3. Allied losses during the same period now stand at 90,000 British and 145,000 U.S. fighters killed, wounded or missing.

NO GUARANTEE

4. "No one—certainly not I—can guarantee that several months of 1945 may not be required to finish off Germany."

5. Even after organized resistance ceases, fierce warfare may still be carried on in the German hills and mountains "by numbers of desperate men conscious of their own guilt and impending doom."

6. The Allies now have landed between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 troops in northwestern Europe, and nearly 250,000 men rushed ashore during the first 24 hours of the invasion.

7. "Complete agreement on every point" was reached between himself and President Roosevelt at the Quebec Conference.

8. The British fleet had been offered for the war against Japan and the offer "cordially accepted"—with much of Britain's naval strength already gathered in the Indian ocean.

9. The 10 Japanese divisions which have been largely shattered, with between 50,000 and 60,000 slain, but a new enemy offensive can be expected with the ending of the monsoon.

10. Britain will support Russia in demanding territorial changes in the Polish frontier to give Russia "the security she is entitled to have."

11. The Big Three are united on a "more close and more effective" basis than ever before, but Marshal Stalin must sit down with the heads of the British and U.S. governments as soon as the military situation permits in order that the big decisions of the peace can be agreed upon.

Hockey Star Scores Air Training Plan

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Ft. Lt. Frank Fredrickson, the former hockey ace, in a service club address here criticized the Royal Canadian Air Force's student training program and charged that millions of dollars were being poured into projects of questionable value.

Fredrickson, who was coach of the air force's team in the Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League last season, expects his discharge from the service shortly.

Students half-way through combat courses were transferred to other duties, including shoveling coal and digging ditches, after some training stations were closed, he said.

Fredrickson asserted the Dominion government still is taking delivery of such obsolete types of planes as Ansons, Canos and Catalinas.

Millions of dollars have been poured into airbases in British Columbia, although such projects were of questionable value, because of the war developments in the Pacific, he said.

Mother Facing Murder Charge Attends Inquest

Mrs. Edith May Cruickshank, wan and dazed, appeared at the coroner's inquest at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home today, on the death of her seven-year-old daughter, Patricia Margaret, whose body was found in the water off Dallas Road at 10.45 Monday morning.

Following evidence of seven witnesses, the jury brought in a verdict that the child was found drowned.

Supported by Miss Alice Pye, policewoman, Mrs. Cruickshank, 623 Manchester Road, stood before Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, who advised her not to give evidence but told her that if she did, she would give it under protection of the Canada Evidence Act. She did not take the oath, but slipped into the chair and said to Dr. Hart:

"No, wait a minute. My husband is a bad, wicked man..."

Mrs. Cruickshank, who has been charged in City Police Court with murder of her daughter, was unrepresented by counsel, but her father, Walter Flindell, 623 Manchester Road, told the coroner's jury he wished to get counsel for his daughter.

Dr. E. L. McInven, who was called to attend the deceased, said he found the child dead and Dr. John H. Moore, who performed the post-mortem examination, described what he termed superficial scratches and bruises, but said cause of death was drowning.

John Cruickshank, father of the girl, was called to the witness stand. He was asked questions pertaining to identification only, upon request of his counsel, W. H. M. Haldane. Police Constable Richard Cupitt, described the taking of the body of the child from the water and notifying the Victoria Fire Department. Detective Louis Callan told the jury that after the mother appeared at the police court, he made inquiries at St. Ann's Academy and learned that Mrs. Cruickshank had visited the school at 9 in the morning and taken her daughter out.

Jurymen were: Robert Law, Joseph Dodson, Gordon Perkins, William Davis, Stanley Ireland and Malcolm Boyd.

Victorians Bet Million In 14 Days' Horseracing

For the first time in history, Victorians bet more than $1,000,000 in 14 days of horseracing at the Willows this year.

Official figures, released today showed $1,022,323 was bet in the two weeks closing last Monday, at the Willows race track. This compares with $925,890 last year—an increase of $96,433.

Vancouver bets this year totaled $5,146,494, compared with $4,680,906 last year—an increase of $465,588.

Grand total for Victoria and Vancouver reached the unprecedented sum of $6,168,817, compared with $5,606,796 last year—an increase of $562,021.

From this sum, under the Amusements Tax Act, the provincial treasury is collecting 7 per cent—$431,817. Of this sum Victoria bettors contributed $71,562. In addition, the treasury, under terms of the same act, gets 10 per cent of the total gate receipts.

Victorians bet more the second week of racing—$533,658—compared with $488,665 the first week.

Plane With 16 Lost in Australia

MELBOURNE (CP)—Sixteen passengers, including two women, are missing in a Netherlands transport aircraft which encountered bad weather in a flight to Cairns, northern Queensland, on the night of Sept. 27, the Australian Air Board announced today.

Among the passengers were Australian army, navy and air force men and seven Netherlands fighter pilots.

Australian officials said no trace of the plane had been found despite an intensive search.

38th Kill Scored By Ace Johnson

LONDON (CP)—Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, who scored his 38th kill Wednesday in operations over the Nijmegen sector of Holland, is far and away the top active Allied air ace of the Second Great War.

The English-born leader of an R.C.A.F. Spitfire wing still has a long way to go to beat the record of Lt. Col. Alexander Pokryshkin of the Red Air Force—53 confirmed victories—but Pokryshkin is reported not currently on operations.

Allied Ship Pool To Be Continued 6 Months After War

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon today announced the signing in London of an agreement between United Nations, including Canada, providing for continued collaboration in the use of merchant shipping for six months after the war.

Under new machinery provided for in the agreement, shipping control bodies will be set up when "general hostilities" in Europe end. They will implement principles which will remain in effect until six months after the suspension of hostilities in Europe or the Far East, whichever is the later, unless terminated or modified earlier by unanimous agreement.

Shipping authorities interpret the agreement as ensuring that disorganization in international shipping will be prevented when peace comes. Practically all United Nations seagoing vessels now are under government control and are part of a shipping pool employed as war needs dictate.

The central authority under the new organization will consist of a United Maritime Council, with representation from each contracting government, and a United Maritime Executive Board, with representatives of the United Kingdom, the United States, Netherlands and Norway, chosen because of their large experience in normal international shipping. Governments not represented on the executive will have associate members who will be consulted.

Neutrals to Lose U.S. Friendship If Hitler Sheltered When He Flees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Hull disclosed today that neutral nations had been warned they would lose U.S. friendship "for years to come" should they give sanctuary to Hitler or other Axis leaders after the war.

Several governments of neutral or former neutral status, notably Sweden, Turkey, Switzerland and Spain, either have given assurances that they will not permit Axis nationals to flee into their borders or that they are fully aware of the problems such action might provoke.

"No indication has yet been received of the views of certain other governments," Hull said in a statement released at his news conference.

Russians Invade Yugoslavia; Trap Nazis in Riga

LONDON (CP)—Russian troops have invaded Yugoslavia after crossing the Danube just west of the Iron Gate at the Romanian frontier town of Arsova, today's German communique made known.

"In the Danube bend, there was lively reconnoitring activity on both sides of the Iron Gate," said the communique broadcast from Berlin. "Soviet forces which have advanced from Orsova in a southern direction were repulsed and enemy formations which had crossed the Danube were smashed."

Orsova is on the river frontier and only Yugoslav territory lies to the south. Moscow has not yet confirmed an incursion into the territory where Marshal Tito's Partisan army operates, but weeks ago told officially of reaching the Iron Gate.

200 Latvian Places Taken By Russians

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet military analysts described as "strategically hopeless" today the position of German troops attempting to withdraw from the Latvian port of Riga along a hotly-strafed coastal road.

The Russian drive, enveloping an additional 200 Latvian settlements Wednesday, approached close to Riga on the northeast. The German command decided apparently to move the bulk of its troops out of the Riga pocket, rather than risk entrapment by a possible Russian breakthrough west of the Latvian capital.

Front dispatches told of rear-guard actions outside Riga and heavy enemy movements westward on the Tukums road leading to western Lithuania and East Prussia.

Other Red Army forces, outflanking the key Uzkok Pass through the Carpathian Mountains, reached the soil of eastern Slovakia. The decisive moment seemed near for the 4th Ukrainian Army, led by Col.-Gen. Ivan Petrov, to crack the tough German and Hungarian defence zone along the crest of the Carpathians in that sector.

CAPTURE HUMMENE

(A Moscow broadcast heard in London Monday said Russian forces were reported to have penetrated 25 miles into Czechoslovakia through Lupkow Pass, northwest of Uzkok Pass, and captured Hummene.)

The Arad line, which the Hungarians have been building since 1939, extends in depth to the southern slopes of the Carpathians, and there was no attempt by the Russians to minimize the stiff struggle faced by Petrov's forces.

The Red Army's main thrust has been beyond the western extremity of the Hungarian fortifications, and is designed to establish a solid junction with patriot resistance forces in central Slovakia.

Canadians Take 1,000 Nazis In Channel Port

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON (AP)—The British 2nd Army drove eastward to the Maas (Meuse) on a 14-mile front from its Nijmegen corridor and formed a new offensive arc, 11 to 14 miles southwest of the Siegfried position of Kleve today, as Gen. Eisenhower built up a 2,000,000 to 3,000,000-man force for the Battle of Germany.

At the same time Canadian forces captured Calais citadel on the Channel, taking 1,000 more prisoners, where a 7,000-man garrison had been reduced by a previous 1,000 captives. The fall of the town appeared to be a matter of hours.

Front reports said enemy troops still were holding out in the ruins of the city, but they were not expected to last long.

At the eastern end of the Canadian front there were signs the Germans might be withdrawing in the sector at Ruckevorsel, north of the Antwerp-Turnhout Canal, in Belgium, across which the Canadians have thrown a strong bridgehead.

BRITISH FAN OUT

"Simultaneously British troops fanned out westward from their salient, which was within 25 miles of walling in perhaps 200,000 Germans in Holland. These were in danger of being added to the nearly 1,000,000 enemy soldiers already marked off the combat list. Front line dispatches said the Germans already were pulling back from the area to the west of the corridor.

The British drive brought under Allied control the west bank of the Maas from Cuyk to Vierlingsbeek, towns from two to three miles from the German border.

At the same time the U.S. 1st Army burst through the pillbox-studded six-mile-wide Hürtgen forest, 14 miles southeast of besieged Aachen, in a tremendous effort to tear open the blocked way to Cologne. The U.S. 3rd Army, however, fighting as fiercely for a hold inside the bastion-ring around the stronghold of Metz, was driven back to its original positions from the entrance to Meuse Fort Driant, one of the three guarding forts.

The Germans said the Allies had flung new airborne forces against Hertenbosch, a scant 10 miles ahead of the British push west from the Nijmegen corridor, and reported that the big gun duel for Metz was deepening in prelude to a full force U.S. assault.

COUNTERBLOWS WITH

The Germans poured in five counterattacks, one six miles west of Metz, near Gravelotte, and two at Colcourt and Bezange nine to 11 miles northeast of Lunenburg, south of Nancy, the Supreme Headquarters communique announced. They withered under intense U.S. fire, which cost the enemy heavily.

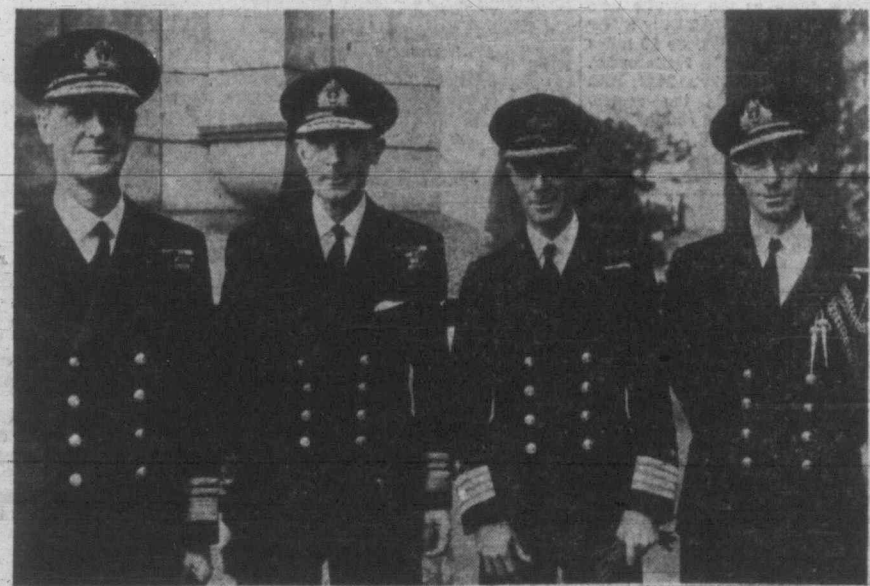

Northeast of Nancy, too, the Germans counterattacked twice and were repulsed.

It was disclosed that most of 800 Polish paratroops and British Dorsetshire infantrymen who crossed the Dutch Rhine to aid the withdrawal of the exhausted remnant of the British 1st Airborne Division also had escaped to the south bank.

The British press, still ringing with the praise of the lost division's epic fight for a cross-Rhine foothold, described it not as a defeat—but as a "glorious failure."

"It was a gamble to force a quick end of the war," said the London Daily Express. "It nearly succeeded, and it was always worth trying."

At Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters the over-all operation which opened the way into mid-Holland was described officially as "85 per cent successful."

City Hears Plan To Establish Fair In Saanich Area

A proposal that Victoria's fall fair, when it is resumed in post-war years, be located in Saanich and made a Greater Victoria proposition, was advanced by Ald. Archie Willis to the City Council Wednesday.

The plan, with other matters related to the B.C. Agricultural Association, was tabled for two weeks.

It arose from a move by the alderman to clarify the city's position on the fair and the possible use of a reconstructed horse show building for arena purposes.

Before the council went into arena plans, it should dispose of the fair issue, the alderman said. H. B. "Barney" Olson's second proposal for a rink had hinged, he noted, on use of a new horse show building for that purpose. The alderman thought an arena should be built in town.

Tabled reports of city representatives on the B.C. Agricultural Association executive were reviewed. They sought to place the city on record in favor of resuming the fair, asked rebuilding of the horse show building out of insurance money due from the last fire and drafting of plans for postwar development of the fair grounds.

Another report, showed Oak Bay and Saanich disinterested in a move to assist fair financing. A motion to adopt the executive members' report was put. Ald. Willis submitted an amendment.

PROPOSAL DETAILS
The amendment expressed appreciation of the value of a fair to the whole community, noted the Willows was not the ideal site, being in the residential district of Oak Bay, and suggested the provincial government, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt be notified of the city's readiness to support morally and financially a Greater Victoria fair located in Saanich. It also suggested the B.C. Agricultural Association extend its representation to Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

The time had come, Ald. Willis said, when the fair should be moved. The city had $60,000 which could be used for rebuilding.

Ald. Ed. Williams cautioned against a snap judgment. He thought consultations should be held with adjoining municipalities before any decision was reached.

Ald. W. L. Morgan noted the city financed a fair in Oak Bay which didn't want it. The motion, he said, would open the way for negotiations with Saanich.

Ald. Willis said the proposed rebuilding of the horse show building was a subterfuge to secure a home for an arena. Oak Bay, he noted, required fireproof construction. That would entail considerable expense and still leave the arena outside the city. He appreciated Oak Bay's objections to the fair grounds, where buildings were deteriorating, he said before forecasting division of Saanich, with the inner wards joining the city and the agricultural areas providing a suitable site for fair grounds.

Ald. D. D. McTavish objected on grounds of tradition, easy access by existing transportation media and loss entailed in dismantling the exhibition plant.

On the recommendation of Ald. B. J. Gadsden the entire matter was shelved for two weeks.

Compulsory Service For Youths Urged At Bracken Club

Suggestion that every Canadian in the late teens should give some form of compulsory military service to the country was made at a meeting of the Victoria Bracken Club in an Empress Hotel private dining-room Wednesday evening by L. V. Mackovski, Vancouver journalist.

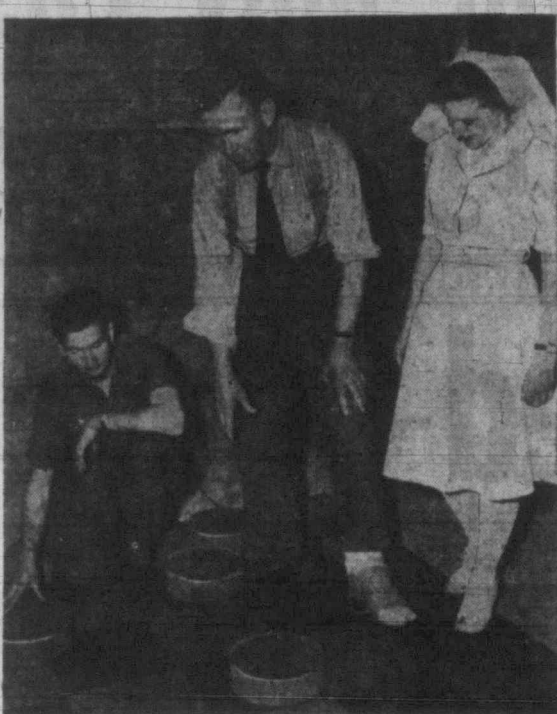

He told the inaugural meeting of the recently-formed Bracken Club that a person's life is divided into three phases — from birth to 20 years; from 20 to 60 years, the productive age, and from 60 on, the years of retirement.

Persons under 20 are not fit to go into industrial life, he said, and should be made to give form of public service, perhaps a year on the land, perhaps a year in compulsory military service. In this war, he said, youth would be taken off the market and trained for the future, with good results to themselves and the country. He suggested these people be paid the same rate as soldiers today. Genius, he thought might be trained specially.

In reply to a question, Mr. Mackovski said there should be no exemption from such service, that the sons of the rich should serve the same as the sons of the poor.

"In a year or two I think we

Retrain Soldiers With Injured Limbs At Gordon Head

Nursing Sister E. M. Morton, Toronto, watches Gnr. I. R. McCallum, Trail, B.C., left, and Sgt. J. S. Ritchie, Burnaby, play a game on a large checkerboard.

Nursing Sister E. H. Learmonth, 1535 Richardson Street, directs Pte. G. Dwernychuk, Smoky Lake, Alberta, as he exercises an injured leg with rope, pulley and weights.

Limbs of soldiers, stiff from injuries and weak from lack of use, are carefully brought back to their normal health under the expert guidance of a staff of doctors, occupational therapists, physiotherapists and specialists in physical development at No. 1 Canadian Retraining Centre, Gordon Head.

In the occupational therapy building, two army sisters show the soldiers the best way in which to make use of their injured limbs. At a giant checkerboard on the floor, men with leg injuries push the large wooden checkers to their places, a moderate exercise for their muscles. In the same way, a man with a shoulder or arm injury gets his exercise as he stoops to the board to play.

Another type of giant checkerboard is stood up on an easel, and pegs take the place of the checkers, fitting into holes for play, so a man with shoulder or arm injuries will use his arms considerably.

MAKE USEFUL ITEMS
Leather work and carpentry are also included in the occupational therapy program, some of the men making barracks boxes, shelves and other items which would be useful around camp.

In the hospital a nursing sister superintends, and in the physiotherapy department, two trained physiotherapists give the men heat treatments and supervise the soldiers as they use the various exercise machines. A band on the wheel of the bicycle exercise machine can be tightened or loosened, making the pedaling easy or difficult as required.

Sitting on a table, a soldier has a cord attached to his foot, and as he swings his leg to and fro, the muscles are forced to lift weights attached to the cord.

A piece of apparatus like a ship's wheel, is also regulated by a tightening band, and provides degrees of exercise for those with upper extremity injuries.

Elsewhere in camp, the soldiers go through graded forms of games, drill and gymnastics, starting in mild forms of exercise, and gradually increasing in tempo through the weeks until they are getting full training again.

Some of the exercises might look simple to a man in full health, but to the injured men they require quite an effort. This branch of training comes under the supervision of Capt. A. Milledge, who was sent to England by Ottawa to study British Army methods.

BUILD UP UNDER NOURISHED

Another special group of soldiers are general service recruits who are underweight and in poor condition. These men are would have a very fine body of young people, anxious and willing to serve the country in this way, trained to think, by work and rubbing shoulders with humanity," he said.

Mr. Mackovski said there would be no exemptions from this because of wealth if John Bracken were in charge, because he is the sort of man, making a law, sees there is no exemption. The speaker said private enterprise, if it is to live, will have to set up some sort of clearing house and co-ordinate its various branches. Any government which begins to take over industries is heading down the road to totalitarianism, he said.

"Our appeal today is to private enterprise to set up some structure, to give full employment, or the government will, by totalitarianism, do it and eventually reduce our standards and we will all become serfs and grow stagnant," he said.

on a special diet, getting additional rations of special foods. When their physical development is complete, the general servicemen will be sent on for basic training.

Capt. Milledge said quite a number of the recruits he is training now are eager to go on to their basic training, feeling they have made good progress. And, according to the captain, they have. One would hardly know them as the recruits who first came in, he said. Only a few days ago they had done 10 miles in two hours in full battle order.

FACING CHOICE
Denis Hagar, provisional president of Victoria Bracken Club, was in the chair. He said the Canadian people are facing the choice of the economic pathway of the future — either a democratic system or state socialism.

He said the Bracken Club has been formed for education and discussion on politics and economic planning.

"The club at the present time has no political affiliations," he said.

Earl Bennett, member of Vancouver Bracken Club, said some Bracken Clubs have a fairly close connection with the Progressive Conservative Party. They are composed of people who believe in private initiative as opposed to socialism.

"I believe there is nothing fundamentally wrong with capitalism — but it is silly to say everything that has happened has been right," he said. "Things, of course, are going to be different — they are changing now — but that does not mean we are going to turn the system upside down because certain things are wrong. I believe we can have both security and freedom."

Mr. Bennett said if Canada is going to maintain the present system there must be taxation that will allow and encourage business to give jobs. Corporation taxes must go, so corporations can increase their plants and pay higher wages, he said. "I feel we must have faith in

"Mr. Humphrey's exceptionally wide experience, extensive public contacts and comprehensive knowledge will be devoted primarily to the solution of problems that will confront the company in the period of transition from war to peace," Mr. Coleman said.

Mr. Humphrey will be located at the company's headquarters in Montreal. He will be succeeded in his present position by E. D. Cotterell, at present general manager, eastern lines, who is promoted to vice-president and general manager with headquarters in Toronto. Both Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Cotterell will report to W. M. Neal, vice-president of the company. The appointments will become effective Oct. 1.

Admits Starting Dance Hall Fire That Killed 10

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — A statement by Alfred Douglas Dunsmoor saying he had put a match to a piece of burlap in the Moose Hall here last May 23 when 10 persons died in a fire which swept the hall was entered in evidence Wednesday at his trial on a charge of murder.

Detective Sergeant Ernest Barrett testified that the 26-year-old former dairy employee had admitted responsibility for starting the Moose Hall fire and four others, saying "I want to make a clean breast of it all."

The statement said Dunsmoor left his home May 23 to attend a party being given in the hall for employees of the dairy where he was employed. Before reaching the hall he drank six glasses of beer and there he and acquaintance shared two small bottles of brandy with others.

"The rest of the evening was taken up with drinking in the basement," said the statement.

"About 11:30 p.m. the caretaker and I talked and I don't recall going up to the dance hall, but I feel that I must have gone up. At 11:45 p.m. I came down and toward the door leading to the meeting room and through the door that leads to a cloakroom at the rear of the hall. In this cloakroom I saw a piece of burlap covering something. I had no idea what was underneath."

"I bent down and struck a match and put it to the burlap and it started to flame. I walked out of the door into the small hall. I think I closed the door behind me and I walked out of the building."

The statement told of his walking back to the hall and when "I saw the condition of the people I realized what a terrible thing I had done."

Mr. Justice J. A. Hope ruled that statements made by Duns-

Dunsmoor is charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Martin, one of the 10 persons who died as a result of the fire.

British Subs Sink 32 Japanese Ships

LONDON (CP) — British submarines have sunk 32 enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters recently and damaged four others by torpedoes or gunfire, the Admiralty announced today.

The vessels sunk ranged from small coastal craft to medium sized supply ships.

During the operations the British raiders penetrated into Sunda Strait between Java and Sumatra, attacked shipping lanes along the coasts of both islands and even ventured into Port Owen on the southern coast of Burma, where two gunboats were sunk while lying at anchor.

Oil tanks on Christmas Island, off the south coast of Java, also were bombed.

One of the submarines was under command of Lt.-Cmdr. F. H. Sherwood, D.S.C., R.C.N.V.R. of Rockcliffe, Ont.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.,
Associated Press War Analyst

Just as expected, the defeat of Arnhem and Allied failure to walk through the Siegfried Line has resulted in widespread belief that the war has gone to pot. Forgetting how we glossed over defeats two and three years ago, we are now "success-conditioned" and every temporary setback becomes a major catastrophe.

It was true at Cassino, and when the Germans had had weather delayed us a little while in Normandy, and now again when we have lost, in a dramatic episode, fewer men than have the Germans in many actions which failed even to make the front pages. It is a reaction from a few weeks ago when the German army was "broken" and speculation was rife as to whether it could make even a halfway decent stand on the Rhine.

Now we are talking of a winter war of frustration on the western front. Mr. Churchill, naturally taking the opportunity to overcome any possible remaining overconfidence, today reminded us that it could be, but carefully abstained from saying it will.

Well, it could be. People fighting with their backs to their homes often upset the best military calculations. Sept. 28, 1941, there were few who conceded the Russians any chance to stop the Germans before Moscow.

But today's military set-up hardly fits the same mold. The Allies probably have on the western front three times as many men as do the Germans. They are better equipped, their rear areas are practically free from the constant bombing which harries every German move, and they have unlimited resources behind them.

It would have been helpful if the airborne troops could have held the Rhine bridge at Arnhem. But the jobs back and forth up and down the front are only the warm-up rounds in the real battle for Germany. Delay now, as at Caen, means only that once again the Allied high command will start its drive when it is ready to start it, and that probably soon.

B.C. Leads Canada In Population Gain With 90,000 Boost

OTTAWA (CP) — Figures compiled on the basis of the distribution of the most recent ration books show an increase and new shifts in Canada's population, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Gain in population, based on the distribution of the ration books last April 1, was estimated at 438,000, compared with the June 1, 1941, census.

Largest gain in the three-year period was recorded by British Columbia, which, with a new population figure of 930,000, showed an increase of 90,000. Ontario at 3,954,000, was up 58,000. Saskatchewan was the heaviest sufferer in population, loss being 86,000, to a new figure of 835,000.

The figures showed a marked gain in the population of cities, and particularly in the larger municipalities. The counties in which Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver are located each added about 50,000 persons through movements of civilian population.

Nova Scotia's population at 610,000 was up 8,000. The other five provinces all showed reductions. The new population figures, with decreases in brackets, were: Prince Edward Island, 91,000 (7,000); New Brunswick, 460,000 (19,000); Quebec, 3,492,000 (11,000); Manitoba, 730,000 (25,000); and Alberta, 816,000 (15,000).

On the basis of ration book distribution figures, it is unofficially estimated Canada's population is well over 12,500,000. It is pointed out no ration books are issued members of the armed forces, except when on furlough, and that not even these are computed in the statistics quoted above by the bureau.

SOBER APPRAISAL

AT NO TIME SINCE THE EARLY DAYS of last June has Mr. Churchill predicted the length of time it would take to defeat Germany. He has left that to irresponsible and pontifical radio commentators far removed from the scene of actualities. Nor is there anything in the Prime Minister's statement to the House of Commons today which rules out the possibility of the Fuehrer's end before the dawn of 1945; but "several months" of next year may be required to complete the job. This is the sober appraisal of conditions in western Europe as Mr. Churchill knows and understands them. Allied peoples should note it well.

In his statement to Parliament, however, the Prime Minister included certain cogent facts and figures in which the enemy will find neither comfort nor encouragement. He told a cheering House that nearly 1,000,000 Germans had been killed, wounded or captured in northwestern Europe in less than four months, that the destruction of another 200,000 troops cut off in Holland could be deemed "highly probable," and that Allied forces at the disposal of the supreme command had grown to between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000. Regardless, therefore, of the time it will take to smash the still considerable elements of the Wehrmacht in the west, we can add to the foregoing statistics the fact that in planes, guns, armor and supplies of all kinds the men under General Eisenhower enjoy vast superiority over the enemy.

What should be particularly cheering at this stage of the conflict in the west is that the advance toward "Festung Deutschland" is well ahead of schedule. We have this on the authority of the supreme commander himself. But it is obviously the continued chapter of successes since the conclusion of the battle for the Cherbourg Peninsula which has produced a sense of over-optimism, so much so that the first apparent set-back has come as a cold douche to dreams of an early German collapse. Probably most of us had forgotten the frequent reminders from the various military leaders that fanatical Nazis fighting on their own "holy soil" would be stubborn customers to deal with. And General Eisenhower has never gone beyond the prediction that Germany COULD be beaten this year IF maximum supplies in the requisite categories reached the right spot at the right time. He has not reported publicly any disappointment in this regard. Whether he has received all the heavy trucks he was recently demanding—sufficient to accommodate the requirements of so rapid an advance over badly-blasted territory—is not disclosed.

While the full text of Mr. Churchill's report to the Commons is not available as this is written, there is nothing in the summary of his remarks before us to cheer the men of Berlin. They know that six armies, full of fight, adequately equipped, are intent on finishing the job which began on June 6 as quickly and as thoroughly as possible. And if the Fuehrer and his partners in crime have any doubt about the steadfastness and courage of the men who compose the Allied legions, they can contemplate the epic stand of British airborne troops at Arnhem.

PRACTICAL KIWANIS

FOR MANY YEARS THE VICTORIA Kiwanis Club has labored diligently in the cause of those afflicted with tuberculosis. Not by post-prandial disquisitions on what "the authorities" ought to do about this insidious disease, but by doing something of a practical nature through collective effort. The local organization, for example, long ago undertook the sale of Christmas seals from the proceeds of which much has been accomplished. But it had set its heart on a crafts building in which tubercular patients might develop skills which do not impose too much physical exertion—an important factor in the arrest and cure of their malady. In the grounds of the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday afternoon Mayor McGavin formally opened this fine structure. And thus another dream of progressive Kiwanians assumed imposing shape—another manifestation of the value to the community of the service club spirit. The heartiest congratulations to all concerned are very much in order.

BLOW TO COMPLACENCY

ONE AND A HALF TO TWO YEARS IS the "absolute minimum" of time that will be required to defeat Japan. This is the estimate at which the United States Office of War Information has arrived after a careful study of all the data its agencies have assembled. And it supports this well-reasoned conclusion with the suggestion that the defeat of Germany is more likely to favor the Japanese than the end of the war with Germany will mean that Japan's war with the United States is just beginning. It might well heighten Japan's determination and fighting spirit. At present, the course of the war in China is all in Japan's favor. Instead of securing additional advance bases from which to strike at Japan by air, the Allies have lost several in recent months.

Neither the foregoing nor Mr. Churchill's reminder that the war against Germany may go into 1945 should produce a lugubrious state of mind among the peoples of the United Nations. As far as Japan is concerned, moreover, one has only to examine the areas in which fighting is now taking place and compare them with the battle-fronts of two years ago to understand why there is little joy in the hearts of Hirohito and his war lords. But the fact remains that to bring the full force of Allied might against the Island Kingdom, and such parts of Nippon's stolen territories as may still be occupied by the enemy, important geographical obstacles will have to be overcome—especially in the transference of men and materials from Europe.

Progress in the Pacific in recent weeks, however, indicates that the Philippines may soon be under the type of attack which has been the forerunner of previous Allied successes against Nippon. Once those islands are freed from Japanese occupation, the enemy's life-line to his stolen empire will be cut. All the considerations which the O.W.I. survey underlines, incidentally, would be subject to prompt revision if Russia should decide to take a hand in the disposal of her ancient Oriental adversary. There is the big "if" of the Pacific theatre.

THE 'RED DEVILS'

SOME OF THE MOST BRILLIANT pages in British military annals are devoted to "last stands" by men of matchless courage against overwhelming odds. Another chapter is now complete. The epic of Arnhem has added new lustre to the imperishable deeds of Britain's citizen soldiers. Not so very long ago many of the men who dropped from the skies on that Sunday morning of Sept. 17 were clerks, artisans, or members of the professions. They had submitted to the most rigorous form of training, to be sure, and had acquired the correct measure of toughness to withstand the worst Hitler's hordes and guns could throw at them. But not even the streamlined philosophy of the sergeant-major can be expected to prepare the recruit for all the imponderables of war. Not all the experience of the present conflict has produced the answer to modern war's diabolism. In the final analysis it is the individuality of the man that counts—his ingenuity and his audacity, as well as his capacity for ineffable team-work. These are the qualities inherent in free men who love freedom and are prepared to die for its preservation. These are the qualities which produced the fine steel for the souls of the "Red Devils" who held Arnhem long enough to contribute immeasurably to the Allied scheme of victory in the west. Never let the word defeat be mentioned in any reference to these sky-borne soldiers. One day the historian will try to do justice to their heroic deed. The world, meanwhile, humbly salutes the memory of those who will not fight again—and "all those filthy, grimy, wonderful gentlemen" who made up that gallant band.

INDUSTRY'S OLDSTERS

MANY OLDER WORKERS IN CANADA'S war plants have been kept on long beyond the normal retirement age, not only because their skills are required, but also because every ounce of production is needed to meet the insistent demands of the armed forces. To have followed any other procedure might have resulted in our fighting men going short of essential equipment. It is fitting to mention this aspect of the Dominion's emergency industrial mechanism only for the reason that some are asking what is going to happen to workers on "the wrong side of 50" when manpower shortage ceases to be a national problem.

We get a part of the answer in "Practical Psychology," written by Dr. F. Kenneth Berrien of Colgate University, who argues "the wisdom of salvaging rather than shelving oldsters." He points to the analogy of the athletic coach who, unable to play, can profitably pass along his skill to others. He suggests advisory "exit jobs" to ease the employee's adjustment to retirement, and to avoid a company's loss of his accumulated experience. These are sensible suggestions. And certainly government, business, the arts and the professions offer repeated proof that usefulness does not end at 60 or 65. But to broaden the example of this proof to include the wage earner in the future will require the full employment of today's most optimistic predictions.

Nobody wants to see a repetition of the absurd and tragic notion that a man of 40 is "too old" to get work. Nobody defends the ousting of a willing, active and capable man of 60 just because he is 60. But if these men cannot work they must be supported. The problem is only part of a bigger one. It is nevertheless one more reason why government and industry and labor should quickly compose their differences and pull together in harness toward the goal of "jobs for all."

Size of the Cake

By GRANT DEXTER

THESE ARE PIPING times of social progress. In recent weeks we have had family allowances and a measure for slum clearance. Health insurance is being studied and will perhaps be proceeded with next year.

In the United Kingdom there has been the Beveridge report calling for hundreds of millions sterling of increased expenditure and additional measures on education, housing, and rural and urban planning. In the full employment white paper, which was debated at length in the House of Commons at Westminster in the closing days of June, the emphasis was placed on what was termed measures of "collective consumption." And still more recently the Trades Union Congress has decided to press for a 44-hour week, with no reductions in earnings.

THESE DEVELOPMENTS have drawn a timely comment from The Economist. It is reproduced in part herewith:

"What is happening at present is that everybody is busy disputing about the size of the slice of cake that each is to receive after the war. Labor's slice is not only to be large but regular. There is to be a slice for education and a slice for planning and a slice for health and a slice for housing, a much larger slice for the armed forces and several slices for social security. But no one is concerning themselves with the sizes of the cake. On the contrary, there is a universal tendency to assume that 'providence' will take care of that. Even the Chancellor of the Exchequer, ordinarily so cautious, tells the House of Commons he is sure the country will be able to secure the necessary increase of its exports by 50 per cent. But how?

"If the government have any idea of the means by which this very great increase can be achieved, they are keeping singularly quiet. Perhaps it can be done; but only by enlisting the utmost efforts of all concerned. Or again, learned discussions are conducted on the subject of distributing between different uses a large prospective increase in the national income. But on what are these specious expectations based? It is true that there are certain indications of greatly increased productivity after the war. But to rely on these signs for a postwar prophecy would be most dangerous. . . . The present mood of the country is not merely to expect economic miracles, but to expend them before they arrive. It cannot be too often repeated that all the rosy dreams of the present depend entirely upon the size of the national income."

Commenting on the T.U.C. demand for the 44-hour week, the Manchester Guardian asks:

"Can we raise our wage costs by something like 20 per cent at a time when our need for competitive ability has become more vital than ever before?"

THESE COMMENTS have a direct application to the Canadian scene. Family allowances, slum clearance, health measures and the like are all highly desirable and to be striven for. But the stubborn fact remains that they cost hard cash and the cash must be obtained by the government by taxation. Taxation can only be obtained out of profits in trade. The burden may be deferred for a time by borrowing, by deficit financing, but sooner or later it must be shouldered.

The attitude of the C.C.F. in every case is one of lofty contempt that the rate of progress should be so slow and the actual measures so niggardly. The C.C.F. is not concerned with the practical problem of finding the money. The Conservative reaction is contradictory—to damn the measures and then vote for them.

The Liberal attitude has been to face the responsibility of payment. Mr. King in his speech on family allowances (page 5456, unreviewed Hansard) emphasized the fact that:

"We in this country depend very largely on foreign markets. We are doing all we possibly can to help to secure foreign markets when the war is over."

In other words, the Liberal party is endeavoring to make sure that the national cake will be big enough to go round.

WAR SPIES ARE EFFECTIVE

From Toronto Globe and Mail
In his masterly book "The War on the Eastern Front," Winston Churchill showed that the Russians were defeated at the Battle of Tannenberg because the Germans had spies in the palace of the Czar. Also the Boches knew all about Russian plans from the Russian wireless, which babbled the story on wavelengths to which the Teutons were tuned. The value of good spies has been proved again and again.

The Nazi robot bomb failed partially because it was not the secret weapon the Germans thought it was. The British knew about it and where it was being made as far back as April of last year. Aerial reconnaissance enabled them to ferret out the works on the Baltic island where the experimental station was situated. It was a simple matter to destroy this plan, kill the experts who were making the robot bomb and dislocate the German timetable, so that the "robot" assault was delayed until after D-Day. Consolidation of Allied positions in Normandy, followed by envelopment of the robot launching bases stopped the pilotless planes which killed nearly 6,000 Britons. The British spy system was more effective than Hitler's secret weapon.

The Russians knew their stuff, as usual. They said they could do it quickly if given a second front.

WHY NOT BE COURTEOUS?

From London Free Press
It is not surprising that in the fifth year of war the strains and tensions should result in a certain acerbity of temper and abruptness of behavior. Most of us have come in contact with it at one time or another. It is seen and experienced in all walks of life, on all occasions, in all sections.

It is the reaction of people to the forced restrictions of war time and to the worries and sorrows that the conflict brings. To the average man it appears as a quite unnecessary change in relations but medical men recognize it as a distortion of personality.

These strains and fears cannot be removed except by the coming of peace—but the individual can do a great deal by self-control and by realizing that still greater strains are being imposed daily on the men in the fighting services overseas.

Oak Bay Discusses Postwar Works

Residents of certain areas of Oak Bay municipality where street improvements have been mooted for the postwar period will be circulated with a questionnaire setting out the alternative types of improvement that can be made, together with an outline of additional costs to the taxpayer it was decided at the Oak Bay Council meeting Wednesday evening.

The taxpayers will be asked to state which of the types of improvement they would prefer, and their answers will be used as a guide in preparing estimates for the immediate postwar period. It is pointed out in the questionnaire, which was drawn up by A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, that these works, which have been postponed during war years because of shortage of labor and materials will be proceeded with as soon as conditions permit.

A communication from the Local Employment Advisory Committee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission regarding closer co-ordination of the municipalities of Greater Victoria was received and filed without discussion.

It was decided to purchase 100 garbage cans, to the value of $500, and to place an order for water meters to the value of $2,057.40.

A request from the Monterey and Willows Parent-Teacher Associations for $50 to put on Halloween parties in the two schools for the children of the two districts was granted. Councillor F. Turly said that he considered the $50 cheap protection against the possible damage that the children could do if they were allowed to roam the streets. Each school will get $25.

In view of the fact that certain sizes of cast iron soil pipe and fittings will not be available to the plumbing trade, possibly until late in 1945, it was decided to allow builders to use substitutes in contravention of the plumbing by-law at the discretion of T. Watt, sanitary inspector.

Councillor J. V. Johnson was appointed to represent Oak Bay at the rehabilitation convention of the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference on October 14 and 15.

J. V. Lindal was granted permission to operate a portable lumber mill on 300 acres of Hudson's Bay Company property within the municipality until the end of April, provided he abided by the rules and regulations laid down by Mr. Watt to avoid fire hazard.

Reeve L. W. Woodhouse was appointed Oak Bay council representative on the Greater Victoria V-Day thanksgiving committee.

knocked down 22 and damaged 10 enemy planes during the day to fatten his three-day score to 37 destroyed.

Top-scoring squadron was led by Sqdn. Ldr. Dean Dover of Toronto. It got 26 in that period for a new R.C.A.F. record.

Doctors Urging Medical College At B.C. University

A delegation from a joint committee of the British Columbia Medical Association and the University of British Columbia hopes to interview the provincial government in the near future with a request to finance the establishment of a medical college at the university, it was announced in the report of the committee on medical education, presented at the annual meeting of the B.C. Medical Association, Wednesday evening. Dr. K. D. Panton of Vancouver is chairman of the committee.

The committee first approached the Board of Governors of the university, he said, with a brief setting out the arguments in favor of the immediate establishment of the additional faculty. The university then appointed a committee to act with the doctors.

A subcommittee under Dr. C. E. Dolman was set up, the report continues, to obtain data concerning the actual setting up of a medical faculty.

It was found that student fees provide for about one-third of operating costs of medical schools, the balance being provided by provincial government grants, or from endowments.

"A medical school graduating 50 students annually, which we will need here, will require an annual operating budget of $150,000 to $200,000," Dr. Panton's report states.

Premier John Hart, who is also Minister of Finance, in his first call some weeks ago on Dr. Norman MacKenzie, new president of the University of British Columbia, said the B.C. government would give every consideration to establishment of a chair of medicine at the university.

Dr. Harris McPhedran, president of the C.M.A., who is also attending the conference, voiced hearty approval of the committee's report, asserting that a medical institution is badly needed in British Columbia, and expressing the hope that one would be established here.

Marion Jones Bride Of Lieut. Johnson

Marion Douglas, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jones, 1906 Duchess Street, exchanged nuptial vows in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Wednesday evening with Lieut. Walter-Fred-eric Johnson, R.C.E., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson, Toronto. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns read the service.

Pale gold brocade of the period gown worn by the only attendant, Miss Helen Louise Sylvester, cousin of the bride, proved effective foil for the full-skirted gown of ivory satin chosen by the bride. The bridal veil of white tulle was caught with gardenias and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and swainsons. Mr. R. D. Jones gave his daughter in marriage.

Completing the bridesmaid's ensemble was a gold filigree Dutch cap and a bouquet of gold chrysanthemums. Lieut. J. H. (Peck) Turner, R.C.E., supported the groom and ushers were Lieut. George Pearson, R.C.E., and Lieut. Len Borthwick, R.C.O.C.

Miss Kay Paulin sang "O Perfect Love" while the bridal party was in the vestry.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Louise Sylvester, 1401 Oliver Street, who assisted the bride's mother in receiving the guests. Mr. Neil Grant proposed the toast to the bride.

"Gentle All-Brn keeps me regular"

"You bet I think ALL-BRAN is helpful for constipation. It sure helped me. You see I'd been dosing myself for years with many kinds of purgatives which helped only briefly. But eating ALL-BRAN keeps me free of that. Now I'm regular as a clock—and I like ALL-BRAN a lot." If your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly (as a cereal or in several ALL-BRAN muffins) and drink plenty of water. Remember, ALL-BRAN is a wholesome, delicious cereal—not a medicine. Get it at your grocer's 2 handy sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Do You Feel Nervous And All on Edge?

People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycero lactin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. It is especially beneficial for convalescents. By increasing the supply of Vitamin B (1) in the system, appetite is improved and the system thereby built up to normal, if the loss of appetite was due to a deficiency of Vitamin B (1) in the diet. $1.00 at all Cunningham Drug Stores and other Drug Stores. Pork Liver Furnishes Large Amount of Iron

By MARY BALDWIN
Provincial Nutritionist
YOU HAVE HEARD many times that liver is "good for you." Perhaps you have wondered why. You may also have wondered how it could be served so that your family would enjoy it.

Pork liver is the most valuable from a nutritional standpoint and is also the least expensive. However, any kind of liver—calf, beef or pork, will furnish large amounts of iron, the B vitamins and Vitamin A. Since the average Canadian diet may be low in these elements, Canada's official food rules suggest that liver, heart or kidney be served once a week when available. No muscle meat possesses the amounts of these essential nutrients which are found in liver.

How can you prepare it so your family will eat it? You must remember that liver requires careful cooking. Over cooking makes it tough and destroys the flavor. Here is a recipe for a liver paste spread which Mrs. R. Chambers of Thrums has found her family enjoy.

Liver Butter

Half to one pound liver, any kind except pork. Use the smallest pan available that liver will go into. Just cover with water and simmer two hours, then grind the liver finely. Return to pan and stir carefully till the small amount of liquid in pan is absorbed.

To the ½ lb. liver add about two ounces butter and season well. Pack into small containers, and if no refrigeration is available, and it cannot be used quickly, pour hot melted fat over top (not necessary to use butter) and seal.

Spread on buttered toast, it is delicious. It may also be served with tomato or lettuce. Most children who cannot be prevailed upon to eat liver will enjoy this. The usual way to serve liver is to fry it. Wipe first with a damp cloth, dip in flour to which seasonings have been added and fry. For a change, try creamed liver. Boil it gently, then cut into small pieces, cream and serve on toast. Baked liver can also be used in a casserole or scalloped dish along with vegetables.

Monterey—It was announced at the last meeting that two classes would be held this year by the association, one on leadership and the other on parent psychology. Mrs. L. R. Harper presided. A resolution was passed endorsing the action of the school board in planning for a junior high school, and stressing the need for quickest action possible to relieve the crowded situation. Miss Frances Borde, physical instructor for the Oak Bay schools, explained the need for physical education. Her work was demonstrated by an interesting display by some of her pupils of informal exercises, tumbling and folk dancing. Miss Carol Cockell, newly-appointed school nurse, gave a talk about medical examinations of schoolchildren.

James Bay — Wednesday at South Park School, many mothers of James Bay pupils were honored at a tea. The guests were received by Mrs. A. McKernon, president, and introduced to all the teachers. George Lynn and Joyce Adlington entertained with piano solos. The auditorium had been decorated by Barbara Westfield, Joyce Adlington, Kathleen Stanbridge, Patricia Pottinger and Connie Birckett. Refreshments were arranged by Mrs. Adams and Mrs.

Duffill and served by Marilyn King, Florence Tickle and Deldre McKenzie.

NO GERMAN REPLY
LONDON (CP)—Germany has not replied to the protest against the murder of 19 Canadian soldiers by members of a panzer division in Normandy last July, Foreign Secretary Eden informed the House of Commons Wednesday. The protecting power, Switzerland, at Britain's request, had been pressing the German government for an answer, Mr. Eden said.

Salmonbellies Strong

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—When the eastern lacrosse champions play host to New Westminster Salmonbellies in the Canadian championships which open Oct. 7 in Toronto, they will be facing almost the same team that defeated Mimico-Brampton for the title last year.

The westerners are a better balanced club than the 1943 edition. Heading a 16-man team that will leave Vancouver Sunday will be Bill Wilkes, Salmonbellies' captain, who was named the outstanding player in last year's Mann Cup series.

Wilkes will centre the first string line and will be flanked by Jimmy Douglas, who packs one of the hardest shots in the game, and Ike Hildebrand, 17-year-old dynamo, who is tabbed to become a second Wilkes. Veteran Bert Bryant, one of the most consistent players on the club, will be rover.

Big Bill Dickinson, who pressed Wilkes for individual honors in the playoffs last year, will team with Pete Meehan to form the first string defence. Both are scoring threats and finished among the top 10 scorers in the intercity league this year.

Wait Lee of Vancouver-Burrows will travel with the Salmonbellies as first string goalie. Lee was a major factor in New Westminster's victory over the east last year.

Roy Pinder, Ritchie McPherson, this season's best rookie; Eric Dickinson, Johnny Cavallin, Alex Shaw, Doug Webb, Ralph Douglas and Dennis Barkley, goalie, will form the reserve strength.

MIMICO IN FRONT

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—George Master's free throw with less than two minutes of play remaining Wednesday night gave Mimico Mountaineers a 7-6 victory over St. Catharines Athletics in the third game of the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association final. The win gave Mimico a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series. Fourth game will be played at Mimico tonight.

French Racing To Start Again

PARIS (AP)—After a hiatus of almost two months, French horse-racing will be resumed Oct. 6 by authorization of the Minister of Agriculture.

The last race was held at the famous Auteuil track near Paris Aug. 13 as Allied armies neared the capital. Racing continued during the German occupation, although a number of stables were broken up and there were many other disruptions—including Allied bombers.

The famous Rothschild stables were expropriated by the Germans, and the horses sold and scattered. Some racing men sent their stables ahead of the Germans into Spain, turning them over to the government.

Many stallions, notably Pharis 2nd, winner of the 1939 Grand Prix; Edward Rothschild's Bubbles and Brantome; Aga Khan's Mizra 2nd, and wealthy Argentine Simon Guthmann's Biribi, were requisitioned by the Germans for breeding purposes.

Orioles Blast Bears 14 to 3

BALTIMORE (AP)—Newark Bears were almost blasted out of the park Wednesday night in the first game of the final International League play-off as Baltimore Orioles scored a 14-3 victory before a crowd of 12,773.

Baltimore teed off promptly on Ken Holcombe, starting Newark hurler, who was succeeded by Joe Page, Frank Hillier and Ed Marleau. The game was just about over after the second inning when the Orioles held an 8-0 lead.

The big blast was third baseman Frankie Skaff's home run into the left field stands in the second with the sacks loaded.

LOUISVILLE WINS

ST. PAUL (AP)—Louisville captured the American Association play-off and the Governor's Cup by defeating St. Paul 3-2 here Wednesday night, sweeping the best-of-seven-game series and earning the right to represent the league in the junior world series against the International League's play-off winner.

Cards Have Big Edge In Outfield

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—You'll find it's the Cards, if you're looking for the standout outfield among the World Series contenders.

The potent punch of Stan Musial, Johnny Hopp and Danny Litwhiler paced the St. Louis National League entry to its third straight pennant.

American League partisans may argue that Detroit's Dick Wakefield can match any Cardinal outfielder in all-around ability, but in group comparison, neither the Tiger trio of Wakefield, Roger (Doc) Cramer and Jimmy Outlaw nor the St. Louis Browns' outfield patrol of Mill Byrnes, Mike Kreevich and Chet Laabs can stack up against the Cards.

Besides being runner-up for the National League batting title with .344, Musial leads the loop with 50 doubles. Hopp boasts an average of .333, and although Litwhiler is batting only .262, he has hit 13 homers and driven in 74 runs.

Wakefield is the Tiger's anchor man.

Leftfielder Wakefield's bat boomed for .348 average. The 38-year-old Cramer, a veteran of 15 years' standing, has been hitting at a .500 pace since July 4, to lift his average to a respectable .289. Outlaw, a grand clutch hitter and team player despite his .274 batting mark, rounds out the Tiger outfield.

The Browns' outer picket, though strong in number, is weak in quality. Of the six pasture patrolers, the best probably is Kreevich, 34-year-old centrefielder. Mike is hitting .300 in an even 100 games, with 42 R.B.I.s.

Ernie Stock Again Heads Hoopsters

Ernie Stock was unanimously returned president of the Victoria and District Basketball Association at the annual meeting in St. Louis College Wednesday evening.

Gordie Perkins was named vice-president, with Jack Phillion and Wally Smith taking the posts of secretary and treasurer respectively, to replace Gordon Woodbridge, who retired owing to pressure of private business.

P.O. George Cole, Navy, and Joe Bryant were added to the executive.

Gordie Moore, speaking for the referees, said the recently-formed local association would affiliate with the Vancouver body.

Further plans for the season will be made Saturday night at a meeting in the home of the president. Entries for various leagues will be received up to Oct. 10.

Three senior B squads, Alcos, Tommy Tuckers and Navy, filed entries Wednesday night. K.V.'s announced four teams from that club would operate in different sections and St. Louis College listed three. Wally Yeamans reported Unitys would play in the girls' senior section and Eagles in the girls' intermediate B division.

Future of the en's senior A division was reported doubtful.

What Made the Mouse Run Like a Rabbit?

VANCOUVER (CP)—P. West and William West, owner and trainer respectively of The Mouse, will appear Friday before a board of racing officials here who will investigate a report from Royal Canadian Mounted Police that the West horse was stimulated in the first race at Willows Park, Victoria, Sept. 22. The Mouse won the race and paid $7.55 on $2 nose bets.

Sports Mirror

IN THE near future the Victoria and District Basketball League will approach the City School Board for use of the Victoria High School gym. It is an annual procedure and, of late, has brought amicable settlement at a price which has left the basketballers slightly nervous.

Last year a torrid play-off series between the air force and the army brought the league out of a financial hole and left it with a modest profit, according to word from the game's directors here. This year, however, the matter of accommodation assumes greater importance. Basketball is due for an upswing despite the fact the calibre of the senior ball may be lower. It should hit the spotlight for the simple reason it will face little competition. The game, at various times the feature attraction on Victoria's sports bill, has been overshadowed in recent years by hockey. When the arena went up in smoke early this year, that contender for popular favor was eliminated.

At the same time, although it attracted less attention, the Sports Centre was reduced to ashes. That destroyed the only other basketball court which could cope with major spectator crowds.

A PART FROM seniors, between 200 and 300 youngsters from 13 to 18, play organized basketball in Victoria. It is over their welfare that the league is most seriously concerned. And officials are anxious to secure as reasonable a rate as possible for the use of the High gym. They point out they cannot continue to operate regular schedules if they run short of finances. The junior and intermediate games have yet to pay their way. The resulting drain on league resources must, the officials state, eventually result in bankruptcy. Then, they ask: What happens to the boys and girls? Apart from the physical value of the sport, they point to the fact that the juvenile offender is less frequently found among the ranks of sports-minded youngsters than among those who do not participate in athletics. That is a strong argument in support of any pleas they may make for lower charges on the gym.

THE ISSUE raises an important educational point. Not only in Victoria, but elsewhere on this continent, belief is growing that school plants, expensive acquisitions by any community, should be used for the greatest good of the greatest number. Just how far the board will go in making the High School athletic accommodation available for use this year remains to be seen. It is expected, however, that trustees will make every effort to assist the basketball interests. They must, at the same time, make quite certain that any concessions they make at the High School will not in any way lead to deterioration of the physical assets there.

FROM "Dusty" Mair, Victoria rugby and lacrosse star, comes comment on Victoria's need for adequate lacrosse facilities.

Writing from Vancouver, where he is serving in the navy, Dusty says:

"I had the opportunity of watching the Owl Drug junior lacrosse team take a beating and here's my opinion of the fracas. The kids really played a lovely game and under the fine coaching of Jimmie Pickford did a noble job. They were five men short, the refereeing was pretty poor but that was not the reason they lost. If those boys had been on a half-decent floor under lights when playing in Victoria they could have won easily over here and it looked terrible to see a good team go down to defeat because . . . (censored section implies Victoria's civic officialdom should have created adequate playing surfaces for its teams.) Too bad, our city is like that but it makes a fellow mad to see the kids take a whipping from an inferior team."

Olson Arena Plan Gains Backing

H. B. "Barney" Olson's original proposal, whereby he would erect a $125,000 fireproof arena on a downtown location, if the council would give him tax concessions and 20 years' free water, appeared due for wide aldermanic support today.

The offer was renewed Wednesday by Mr. Olson at a special meeting of the council in committee of the whole as it canvassed the arena question before an audience of Minor Hockey League players and officials.

After considering the point, council called for a meeting next Wednesday afternoon with the citizens' arena committee. At that meeting a report will be made on the Olson proposal by the finance committee, which will meet the operator of the last rink Monday morning.

Ald. Ed. Williams championed the cause of a civic arena. Ald. Fred A. Willis voiced strong support for private interests taking over the field. The latter stand won backing from Ald. T. W. Hawkins and Mayor Andrew McGavin said any earlier proposals for a municipally-owned and operated ice plant would not shut the door to private interests.

YOUNGSTERS WANT ICE
Doug Fletcher, president of the Minor Hockey Association, expressed that group's desire to see an arena built. It was neutral, he said, on the question of public or private ownership. He reported on arrangements made with Mr. Olson at the last rink, by which the young players secured free use of the ice for material periods each week.

Ivan Temple, secretary-treasurer, placed the value of free ice given the boys at $1,000. In committee the council heard a dozen communications advocating early construction of a new arena. Except in isolated cases, they favored civic ownership.

Ald. Williams, reviewing the situation prior to the new Olson move, said the city had no offer to build a rink from private interests. "The whole thing," he said, "boils down to this—the city will build an arena or we won't get one."

He called on the city solicitor to outline steps required for construction of a civic centre. Mr. Shaw said a site would have to be selected, an estimate of cost made, a by-law put through the council to borrow money for the undertaking, with approval being sought from the property owners, and finally an approach to the government for the right to borrow under the refunding scheme.

Ald. Fred Willis said the Willows was unsuitable for an arena site and moved the council spend money on plans and specifications for a downtown building. Ald. Williams said an arena would cost between $200,000 and $250,000.

Ald. Archie Willis said plans and specifications—had been drafted by the late C. E. Watkins and might still be available.

FORGET MUNICIPAL PLAN

Ald. T. W. Hawkins urged the council to forget insurance money due on the Willows fire, to forget the public ownership idea and see how it could assist private enterprise. He favored a gift of Garbally Road property for a site.

At that point, Mayor McGavin said the resolutions proposed did not shut the door to private interests.

Mr. Olson renewed his first offer. Action by the provincial government would be required before the concessions he wanted could be granted, F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, said.

"There are ways around it," commented Ald. Hawkins. "I don't want ways around it," replied Ald. Williams. "I'm for civic ownership of an arena." He put his scheme in motion form, to place the council on record in favor of a civic centre

Yanks, Browns Open Dog-Eat-Dog Series

By JACK HAND

Washington's sorry Senators, picked to win the pennant in March but destined to be a gloomy last in October, hold the key today to Detroit's first pennant bid since 1940.

Granted the Bengals may find the last four steps the steepest, but the two opposition candidates, St. Louis, one game back, and New York, three lengths off the pace, will be clashing in a dog-eat-dog series that can easily eliminate both.

With four games to go all around, Detroit's one-game lead looks good because the schedule is breaking in their favor after a long, up-hill struggle. As long as the Tigers get pitching and hitting like Wednesday's 4 to 0 victory over Philadelphia, nobody can get close.

When the Yanks and Browns chased one another from April to mid-September, everything seemed to hinge on their closing clash but the Browns' 4 to 1 loss to Boston Wednesday night took some of the edge off.

Rain in St. Louis almost turned things upside down yesterday but the Browns, after moving the Boston finale from afternoon to night and delaying the start for an hour waiting for the drizzle to stop, finally played and were sorry. It was the end of a seven-game St. Louis winning streak and a 10-game Boston losing string.

It was Newhouse with win No. 28 for the Tigers in the shut-out of the A's, boosting the Newhouse-Trout total to 53 victories, tying the old mark held by Cleveland's Jim Bagby, Sr., and Stan Coveleskie.

New York kept its foot in the door by trimming Chicago 7 to 2. Cleveland showed Earl Henry, a left-hander from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and the recruit beat Washington, 6 to 4.

Cincinnati's Bucky Walters picked up his 23rd National League success by topping New York, 8 to 1, thanks to Steve Mesner's grand-slam homer. Freshman Clyde King hurled Brooklyn to a 3 to 2 shade over St. Louis, Boston held on to nose out Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, and Chicago came up with two in the 11th for a 5 to 3 edge over the Phils.

2 to 3 Million Allies In France Churchill Discloses

Warns Guilt-Conscious Nazis May Put Up Fight Inside Reich

LONDON (CP)—Following is a partial text of Prime Minister Churchill's address in the House of Commons today:

Little more than seven weeks have passed since we rose for the summer recess, but this short period has completely changed the face of the war in Europe.

What a transformation meets our eyes! Not only Paris, but practically the whole of France has been liberated, as if by enchantment. Belgium has been rescued. Part of Holland is already free. The foul enemy who for four years inflicted his cruelties and oppression upon those countries has fled, leaving perhaps 400,000 killed and wounded and leaving in our hands nearly half a million prisoners.

Besides these there may well be 200,000 of them in the coastal fortresses of Holland whose destruction or capture may now be deemed highly probable.

Conducted under the supreme command of Gen. Eisenhower, all these operations have taken place and all were the fruit of the world-famous battle of Normandy, the greatest and most decisive battle of the entire war. Never has the exploitation of victory been carried to higher perfection.

The chaos and destruction wrought by the Allied air forces behind the battlefield has been indescribable in narrative and a factor of the utmost potency in the actual struggle. It reduces to petty dimensions all that our own army had to suffer from the German Air Force in 1940.

Nevertheless, when we reflect upon the tremendous fire power of modern weapons and the opportunities which they give for defensive and delaying action we must feel astounded at the extraordinary speed with which the Allied armies have advanced.

American Logistics Model of Military Art

The vast and brilliant encircling movements of the American armies will ever be a model of the military art and an example of the propriety of running risks, not only in the fighting, because most of the armies are ready to do it, but even more on the "Q" side or, as the Americans put it, the logistic side.

By the largest airborne operation ever yet conceived or executed a further all-important forward bound in the north has been achieved. Here I must pay tribute, which the House will consider due, to the superb feat of arms performed by our 1st Airborne Division (cheers).

This glorious and fruitful operation will take a lasting place in our military annals and will in succeeding generations inspire our youth with the highest ideals of duty and daring.

The cost has been heavy... but for those who mourn there is at least the consolation that the sacrifice was not needlessly demanded nor was it given without result.

The delay caused to the enemy's advance upon Nijmegen enabled the British and their American comrades in two other airborne divisions, and the British 2nd Army to secure intact the vitally important bridges and to form a strong bridgehead over the main stream of the Rhine in Nijmegen. "Not in vain" may be the pride of those who survived and the epitaph of those who fell.

The Riviera landings led with inconceivable rapidity to the capture of Toulon and Marseilles.

When I had the opportunity Aug. 15 of watching—alas from very far—the landing at St. Tropez it would have seemed audacious to have hoped for such swift and important results.

We have, however, under the spell of victories in the north, gained a superabundance in less than half of the time prescribed and expected in the plans which were made beforehand. The largest mass of all the troops on the Italian front comes, of course, from the United Kingdom (cheers). Half the divisions of the whole front were from this island.

It seems to me indeed appropriate that a special Jewish unit of that race which has suffered indescribable torment from the Nazis should be represented as a distinct formation among the forces gathered for their final overthrow (cheers). I have no doubt that they will not only take part in the struggle but also in the occupation that will follow (cheers).

I am now going to give a few facts and figures about the operations in Europe. The speed with which the mighty British and American armies in France were built up is almost incredible. In the first 24 hours 250,000 men were landed in the teeth of fortified and violent opposition (cheers).

Million Men Landed By D-Day Plus 20

By the 20th day 1,000,000 men were ashore (cheers). There are now between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men in France.

I must pay my tribute to the United States armies, not only in their valiant and ruthless battleworthy qualities, but also in the skill of their commanders and the excellence of their supply arrangements. When one remembers that the United States four or five years ago was a peace-loving power without any great body of troops or munitions maintained, and with only a very small regular army to draw their commanders from, the American achievement is truly amazing (cheers).

These soldiers, like our own from Great Britain—who have been even longer under arms—are capable of being placed immediately on landing in the battle line and have proved themselves more than a match for the so-called veteran troops of Germany, who, though fighting desperately, are showing themselves decidedly the worse for wear. When I think of the measureless output of ships and munitions and supplies of all kinds with which the United States has equipped herself and has sustained all fighting Allies in generous measure and of the mighty war she is conducting with the troops of our Australian and New Zealand Dominions over the spaces of the Pacific Ocean, this House may, indeed, salute our sister nation as being at the highest pinnacle of her power and fame.

It was with great pleasure we all saw British and Canadian armies who had so long fought against heavy resistance by the enemy along the hinge of Allied movements show themselves also capable of lightning advances which certainly have not been surpassed anywhere. (Cheers).

I am very glad to say that we also have been able to make a worthy contribution (cheers) ... after 120 days of fighting we still bear a cross-Channel troops a proportion of two to three in personnel and of four to five and a half in fighting divisions in France.

The casualties have followed very closely the proportion of numbers. In fact, these troops fight so level that the casualties almost exactly follow the numbers engaged. We have, I regret to say, lost upwards of 90,000 men killed, wounded and missing and the U.S., including General Patch's army, over 145,000. Such is the price in blood paid by the English-speaking democracies for the actual liberation of the soil of France.

The terms in which Marshal Stalin recently, in conversation, has referred to our campaigns in the west have been of such a generous and admiring character that I felt, in my turn, bound to point out that Russia is holding and beating far—larger—hostile forces than those which face the Allies in the west, and has through long years, at enormous losses, borne the brunt of the struggle on land. (Cheers).

Broad Misconceptions On Campaign in Burma

I was somewhat concerned to observe from my reading of the American press in which I indulged during my stay on the other side broad misconceptions exist in the public mind, so far as it is reflected by the newspapers, about the skill of our efforts in Burma. I must therefore set matters in their true light.

It is well known that the United States have been increasingly engaged in establishing an air route to China capable of carrying immense supplies.

Along the eastern frontiers of India stands the 14th British Imperial Army. This army under Admiral Mountbatten, amounting to between 250,000 and 300,000 men... has by its aggressive operations guarded the base of the U.S. air line to China and has protected India against the horrors of a Japanese invasion.

The 10 Japanese divisions, which were launched against us with the object of invading India and cutting the air line, have been repulsed and largely shattered as the result of the bloody and costly campaign which is still being continued in spite of the monsoon season.

In the first six months only of this year the 14th British Imperial Army sustained no fewer than 237,000 cases of sickness which had to be evacuated to the rear over the long and difficult communications and tended in hospital... in addition to this we have suffered over 40,000 battle casualties in the first six months.

The campaign of Admiral Mountbatten on the Burma frontier constitutes—and this is a startling fact—the largest and most important ground fighting that has yet taken place against the armies of Japan and has resulted in the slaughter of between 50,000 and 60,000 Japanese and the capture of several hundred prisoners (laughter).

We have discovered many preventives against tropical diseases—the excellent D.D.T. powder which has been fully experimented with and found to yield astonishing results will henceforward be used on a great scale... together with other remedies constantly improving.

I can assure the House that the war against the Japanese—and other diseases of the jungle—will be pressed forward with the utmost energy.

I always hate comparing Napoleon with Hitler as it seems an insult to the great Emperor and warrior to connect him in any way with a squalid caucus boss and butcher, but there is one respect in which I must draw a parallel. Both these men were temperamentally unable to give up the tiniest scrap of any territory to which the high water mark of their hectic fortunes had carried them.

Such a vast frittering away and dispersal of forces has never been seen and is, of course, the prime cause of the impending ruin of Germany. When Herr Hitler escaped his bomb on July 20 he described his survival as providential. I think from a purely military point of view we can agree with him.

Certainly it would be most unfortunate if the Allies were to be deprived in the closing phases of the struggle of that form of warlike genius by which Corporal Schickelgruber has so notably contributed to our victory.

I deprecate very much people being carried away into premature expectations of an immediate cessation of the fighting. It is very hard not to be when each day the papers are rightly filled with news of captures of important places and of advances of the army. But there is still a great deal to do in a military sense.

Unless organized German resistance collapses in the near future enormous additional U.S. forces will be brought to bear in the final struggle.

I shall certainly not hazard a guess—it could be no more than a guess—as to when the end will come. Many persons of the highest technical attainments, knowledge and responsibility have good hopes that it will be over by the end of 1944.

May Continue Fight In Heart of Reich

On the other hand, no one—certainly not I—can guarantee that several months of 1945 may not be required. There is also the possibility that, after organized resistance of the German state and army is completely broken, fierce warfare may be maintained in the forests and mountains of Germany by numbers of desperate men conscious of their own guilt and impending doom.

It may be necessary for the Allies to declare at a certain date that the actual war against the German state has come to an end and that a period of mopping up of bandits and war criminals has begun.

No one can foresee what form exactly the death agony of Nazism will take.

For us the important decision will be to choose the moment when substantial forces can be withdrawn from Europe to intensify the war against Japan. We do not certainly consider that the declared date of the ending of the war against Germany must necessarily be postponed until the last desperado has been tracked down in his last lair.

Complete agreement on every point was reached at Quebec by the combined chiefs of staff. The men who met together at Quebec knew each other well. When you have lived through all these things you do not have to turn to dusty files to see what happened on particular occasions.

Obviously our discussions were concerned with the successful winding up of the war in Europe by bringing about the unconditional surrender of Germany at the earliest moment and also with the new phase of the war against Japan which will dominate all minds and command all our resources from the moment that the German war is ended.

On behalf of the British government, nearly two years ago I assured the President that Great Britain would pursue the war against Japan with all her strength and resources to the very end. And, as I explained to Congress when I last addressed them, we have losses to repair and injuries to repay on the Japanese account at least equal to if not greater than those suffered by the United States.

Our perseverance in this quarrel is not to be doubted. I offered some time ago to embody this undertaking in a definite treaty, but the President made the courteous reply that the British word was good enough. That word we shall certainly make good.

Offers British Fleet For War On Japanese

Accordingly we offered to the United States the fine, modern British Fleet and we asked that it should be employed in the major operations against Japan. This offer was at once cordially accepted.

A large portion of this fleet is already gathered in the Indian Ocean. For a year past our modern battleships have been undergoing a further measure of modernization and tropicalization to meet the rapid wartime changes in technical apparatus.

We have already, nine months ago, begun the creation of an immense fleet train comprising many vessels, large and medium, especially fitted as repair ships, recreational ships for personnel, munition and provision ships and many modern variants, in order that our fleet may have a degree of mobility which, for several months together, will make them largely independent of the main shore bases.

A substantial portion of these vessels which we shall use for this purpose we have been building in Canada.

Thus we hope to place in the Pacific a fleet capable in itself of fighting a general action with the Japanese navy and which, added to the far greater United States naval power, should give a naval command of all these vast ocean spaces and seas of the most complete and decisive character.

Election in France Made Possible

For my part I have always felt that the heart of the French nation was sound and true and that they would rise again in their greatness and power. It would now seem possible to put into force the decree of the Algiers committee whereby at an interim stage the legislative assembly would be transformed into an elected body reinforced by the addition of new elements drawn from inside France... it would render possible that recognition of the provisional government of France and the consequences thereof which we all desire to bring about at the earliest moment.

(At Dumbarton Oaks.) The whole scene has been explored and many difficulties have been not merely discovered but adjusted. There are, however, still some important outstanding questions and we ought not to be hurried into decisions upon which united opinion by the various governments responsible is not at present ripe. It would not be prudent to press in a hurry for momentous decisions governing the whole future of the world.

There is another warning. I would venture to give to the House, and that is not to be started or carried away by sensational reports and stories which emanate from the other side of the Atlantic. There is an election on and very vivid accounts of all kinds of matters are given by people who cannot possibly have any knowledge of what has taken place at secret conferences.

The U.S. is a land of free speech. Nowhere is speech freer. Not even here, where we sedulously cultivate it, even in its most repulsive form. But when I see some of the accounts given of conversations I am supposed to have had with the President of the U.S., I can only recall a Balfourian phrase of many years ago, when he said that the accounts which were given bore no more relation to the actual facts than the wildest tales of the Arabian nights to the ordinary incidents of domestic life in the East.

Everything depends upon the agreement of the three leading European powers and world powers. I do not think a satisfactory agreement will be reached—unless there is an agreement nothing can be satisfactory—until there has been a further meeting of the three heads of governments, assisted, as may be necessary, by their foreign secretaries.

I earnestly hope it may be possible to bring about such a meeting before the end of the year. There are great difficulties, but I earnestly hope they may be overcome.

The fact that the President and I have been so closely brought together at the Quebec conference and have been able to discuss so many matters bearing upon the course of the war and of the measures to be taken after the German surrender and also for a broad future, this fact makes it all the more necessary that our third partner, Marshal Stalin, who has of course been kept informed, should join with us in a tripartite conference as soon as the military situation renders this possible.

World Future Depends On Big-3 Agreement

The future of the whole world and generally the future of Europe perhaps for several generations depends upon the cordial, trustful and comprehending association of the British Empire, the U.S. and Soviet Russia, and no pains must be spared and no patience grudged which are necessary to bring that supreme goal to fruition.

Whatever may be settled in the near future must be regarded as only a preliminary to the actual establishment in its final form of the future world organization.

It is right to make surveys and preparations beforehand and many have been made and are being made, but great decisions cannot be taken even for the transition period without far closer, calmer and more searching discussions than can be held amid the clash of arms... I am sure this is not the time for taking hard and fast, momentous decision on incomplete data and at breakneck speed. Hasty work and premature decisions may lead to penalties out of all proportion to the issues immediately involved.

I have sedulously avoided the appearance of any one country trying to lay down the law to its powerful Allies or any of the other states involved. I hope, however, that I have given the House some impression of the heavy and critical work that is going forward and will lie before us even after the downfall of our principal enemy has been effected.

I trust that what I have said will be weighed with care and good will not only in the House and in this country but also in far wider circles.

PALM TREES PRODUCE WAX FOR CANDLES AND OIL FOR SOAP

The under part of the human hand is called a "palm," and the same name has been given to a tree, or family of trees. The Torrid zone has many millions of palm trees, and there are some in the Temperate zones.

Certain palms have long leaves which spread out as if they were parts of a folding fan, and for that reason are known as "fan palms." It is believed that the name of palm tree was given because a fan-palm made someone think of the palm of a hand with outspread fingers.

Among the fan palms are the palmettos. The name "palmetto" means "little palm."

A picture of the cabbage palmetto appears on the coat-of-arms of South Carolina, which has the nickname of "Palmetto State." Many palmetto trees grow in the area from South Carolina down into Florida.

The wood is used in making piers and wharves, and is of special value because it suffers little damage through years of contact with water.

South America and Asia have palm-trees of great size. The wax palms of Peru grow to a height of more than 150 feet. From these trees is taken a wax which can be used in making candles. The wood of the wax palm is used in making the walls of houses, and the leaves are employed for thatched roofs.

There are so many kinds of palm trees that we could not even

GATHERING the FRUIT of the OIL PALM

The SAFETY-BELT is raised a couple of feet for every step upwards list the names in a story of this size. Close to 1,500 kinds are known. Coconut-palms and date palms are the most important, but other kinds are useful.

The western coast of Africa has great numbers of oil palms. From these trees the natives gather "palm fruits," and place them in holes in the ground. The holes are lined with leaves.

After the fruits are sprinkled with water, they are covered and allowed to stay in the hole for a month or longer. Then they are taken out, beaten and squeezed. A good deal of oil is brought out by the squeezing.

At first the oil is of reddish color, but it is treated with alkali bubbles, or with a chemical, and becomes almost white. It is used chiefly for the making of soap.

Oil palms from Africa have been planted in the West Indies, and have grown there with success. Many thousands of tons of palm oil are produced each year. (For nature section of your scrapbook.)

Doctors Would Halt Health Insurance Until War Is Over

Opposition to the introduction of health insurance until the medical personnel now engaged in the armed forces is again available for civilian duty was expressed at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Medical Association, Wednesday, when the report of the committee on economics was presented by Dr. F. Strong of Vancouver.

The principle of contributory health insurance was approved by the meeting, however. The doctors were firmly of the opinion that it would be "impractical to introduce at once a nationwide scheme of complete health insurance." They advocated that any such scheme should be introduced in successive stages in each province, the term "successive stages" being, first, hospitalization; second, diagnostic aids, including X-ray and laboratory facilities for ambulatory patients and those not hospitalized, and finally, medical, surgical and obstetrical care.

They also felt that the introduction of any system of health insurance into Canada should be preceded by an increase in the facilities for under-graduate and post-graduate medical training.

Moore-Whittington Acquires Timber Near Qualicum

Moore-Whittington Lumber Company has purchased the standing timber and logging equipment of the C.W. Logging Company and the Centre Creek Timber Company at Qualicum Beach.

Stan Moore, assistant manager, said today the timber purchased comprises approximately 8,000 acres of Crown grant fir and hemlock and this, with adjacent blocks, plus timber licenses and lot-owned by the company at Nitinat Lake, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, gives the Moore-Whittington mill a guaranteed supply of the best logs procurable for the next 20 years.

Frank Parker, a former partner in the C.W. Logging Company, will continue as managing superintendent in full charge of operations at Parksville. Log booming grounds and storage will be carried on at Beaver Creek and the log booms towed to the mill in Victoria.

Victorian Injured In Sea Collision

A Victoria woman, Miss N. J. McCarthy, was among eight injured persons taken to hospital in Vancouver Wednesday night after the Union Steamship Lady Cecilia collided with a 10,000-ton freighter off Point Atkinson. None was reported seriously hurt but eight were taken to hospital for treatment.

A Union Steamship official said the Lady Cecilia was rammed on the starboard side and considerable damage done to her upper structure. She came into port under her own power but will be in drydock about three weeks. She was inbound from Powell River.

The outbound freighter continued on its voyage. Security reasons prevented publication of the freighter's name.

Miss McCarthy was returning to Victoria after spending a vacation at Hidden Bay near Pender Harbor. For the last 10 years she has been a companion to Mrs. M. K. Pite, 1715 Leighton Road.

Opening meeting of St. Mary's Men's Guild will be held in the church hall Thursday evening. Archdeacon Robert Connell will speak.

British Admiral Impressed By Naval Construction Here

By DICK FREEMAN

Comptroller of the Royal Navy, Vice-Admiral Sir William Frederick Wake-Walker, K.C.B., C.B.E., R.N., tall, rangy, broad-shouldered seadog who organized the evacuation of Dunkerque when the war clouds over Europe were darkest; who successfully battled the magnetic mine menace and got a great deal of satisfaction out of seeing the mighty battleship Bismarck sunk, today revived pleasant memories of his former visit to Victoria.

He came here today with Vice-Admiral Sir Alfred Evans, K.B.E., C.B., R.N., chief of the British naval technical mission, Ottawa. Others in the naval group are Pay Col. E. S. Satterthwaite, aide to Vice-Admiral Wake-Walker; Capt. Instr. A. G. W. Stanton, naval construction adviser, and Miss Renee Nash, secretary.

"You've been doing some excellent naval construction work in Canada and the opportunity of coming out here to see for myself just what has been accomplished pleased me greatly," said Admiral Wake-Walker.

From the Empress Hotel he telephoned naval officers he knows here and completed arrangements for the inspection of naval construction work in Victoria.

ANTICIPATED VISIT HERE

"You know, this is one visit I wanted to make," he confided as he grabbed a phone to talk with Capt. Edward D. W. Levein, controller of civil defence for Saanich, an old friend whom he knew in the days when the cruisers of the British West Indies fleet used to patrol the North Pacific annually.

The admiral delayed his scheduled tour of Yarrow's Ltd. so that he could meet friend Levein and talk of old times.

"Ten years ago, it was," mused the genial, bronzed admiral, recalling his last visit to Esquimalt as commander of H.M.S. Dragon. He broke away from the naval entourage, took a short walk about the grounds of the Empress Hotel, gazed intently at the Parliament Buildings across the green sward, said: "Victoria hasn't changed very much. It is a beautiful city, very attractive and its people are easy to meet. I'm sorry I can't stay longer. But it can't be. We're taking the plane back this afternoon."

"I'm going to try to persuade the admiral to come back some time," volunteered pretty, blonde, blue-eyed Renee Nash, his secretary, making her first trip to Canada. "I've had a really wonderful time since I came to this country. It will be difficult to settle down to naval routine after this experience." Nash is a very important member of the naval party, and naturally gets lots of special attention. They can't go very far without her. She appears to be indispensable.

The economic committee also made a study of medical fees in Canada and presented a report on this to the annual meeting.

It was found, they reported, that in general medical charges are highest in the west and lowest in the Maritime provinces. Manitoba tops all provinces in fees, and is closely followed by British Columbia, which is very similar to Ontario.

The committee expressed the opinion that possibly fees were lower in the Maritimes because of lower expenses to physicians there, where offices are usually in the homes and where distances to patients are not so great.

It is found, the report states, that in general routine minor procedures, such as office consultations, home visits, mileage and so forth, British Columbia allows the highest fees, while in major work, such as surgery and obstetrics, Manitoba leads the charges.

CUT CHARGES IN B.C.

The committee recommended that "it would seem advisable that some of the charges for major operations in British Columbia and Manitoba, particularly, should be reduced, and that the eastern provinces should raise their entire schedule."

The report continues: "In general, it would seem that there is an overemphasis on surgery and not enough consideration given to skilled medical work. The value of the first examination should be recognized and the fee proportionately raised. The value of medical care where special skill is involved should not be based on a charge per visit."

In view of the varied conditions, it was felt that no single schedule of fees could be set for the whole of Canada, but that the basis for payment of doctors in any part of Canada should be based on a unit system.

Big Mining Company Registered in B.C.

One of Canada's biggest mining companies — Quebec Gold Mining Corporation (N.P.L.), capitalized at $4,000,000 opened a B.C. office this week and became extra-provincially registered at the Parliament Buildings under the Companies Act.

The company will engage in a general mining business in this province.

Directors are Messrs. Kendall, New York financier, who is vice-president; James Y. Murdoch, K.C., Toronto; Leo R. Timmins, Montreal; Rupert M. Macaulay, Montreal; William Harry Kingston, Ont.; Ethel E. Diprose, Montreal.

Officers, N.C.O.'s and specialists of the 3rd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Reserve will parade Friday in place of the parade canceled Wednesday night.

See the glorious Chrysanthemums, Flower Show, Crystal Garden, Friday and Saturday.

"Where's Miss Nash? Where's Miss Nash?" was insistently called as the party was about to set off from the hotel for Esquimalt.

INSPECTS YARROWS

No. 1 shipbuilding plant of Yarrow's Ltd. was reached at 10 this morning, where Norman A. Yarrow, president and managing director, welcomed the naval officers, personally escorted them over the plants. At 11 the visiting group crossed Esquimalt Harbor to inspect No. 2 yard where transport ferries are under construction.

E. W. Izard, general manager; Douglas Forsythe, resident overseer for the Admiralty technical mission, and Allan Cormack and W. G. Leith, respective superintendents of No. 1 and 2 yards, went along to explain things to the visitors.

As the tour of the Yarrow's plants was concluded, Admiral Wake-Walker said he was impressed by the nature of the naval construction work going on here. The efficiency of the plants, the high morale of the workers, also drew favorable comment.

LUNCHEON WITH GOVERNOR

On returning to the city from Esquimalt, Vice-Admiral Wake-Walker and the members of his party were entertained at luncheon by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward at Government House.

Admiral Wake-Walker has a notable naval career. When the British army was out of the French in June 1940, and was in peril of annihilation, he was entrusted by the British Admiralty with command of the fleet of small craft which made history in evacuating the British forces almost intact from the beaches of Dunkerque. When the magnetic mine menace threatened British shipping it was Admiral Wake-Walker who was called in to counteract it.

He doesn't talk much about those episodes in his brilliant career. Sailors are usually modest to a degree.

But one momentous incident of the world war stands out in the mind of the admiral.

When the battleship Bismarck, crack unit of the German navy, was trapped and sunk as she sailed through Denmark Straits to the open Atlantic bent on raiding, Admiral Wake-Walker was there too. He was in command of H.M.S. Norfolk, which with H.M.S. Suffolk was assigned to the task of contacting and keeping track of the Bismarck as she sought by her superior speed to get clear of the British fleet. T.E. heavy firepower of H.M.S. Duke of York and Rodney was credited with the disabling of the great German battleship and H.M.S. Dorsetshire with firing the torpedoes which finally sent her to the bottom, but the Norfolk and Admiral Wake-Walker cannot be dissociated with the destruction of the enemy raider.

Doctor's President Points Criticism At Tardy Bill Payers

Dr. Gordon O. Matthews of Vancouver, was elected president of the British Columbia Medical Association, succeeding Dr. P. A. C. Cousland of Victoria, at the annual meeting of the association Wednesday evening.

Dr. A. H. Menely, Nanaimo, was elected first vice-president; Dr. Ethlyn Trapp, Vancouver, second vice-president, and Dr. S. G. Baldwin, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer.

The five directors chosen were Dr. G. F. Anyon, provincial health officer; Dr. F. M. Auld, Nelson; Dr. C. H. Hankinson, Prince Rupert; Dr. H. H. Milburn, Vancouver, and Dr. J. S. Henderson, Kelowna.

People don't object to paying their butcher's and grocer's bills and yet certain elements of the public think the doctor shouldn't get paid, Dr. Harris McPhedran, president of the Canadian Medical Association, told the gathering.

"That doesn't apply to the majority of the people by any means," he said. "But there is an element which feels free medical service is part of its heritage. They don't ask for a free toothbrush when they go to a drug store and yet they think a doctor shouldn't get it."

Education of the public, Dr. McPhedran said, is "one of the most pressing things we have before us." Some of the public, he said, is infected with the virus of always wanting to get something for nothing.

"The public largely has been misled," he said. "We're not getting anywhere until we get down to the ordinary man in the street who'll find he's very cooperative once he knows the truth. I don't see why our fees should be reduced, no one asks the grocer or butcher to reduce his bills."

Dr. T. C. Routley, Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said the medical profession could play a part, second to none in stabilizing the thinking of Canadians.

British Columbia had always given very definite help in major problems submitted to the association.

INDUSTRIAL MEDICINE

The committee on industrial medicine, which was under Dr. D. J. Millar, advocated that the provincial government set up a department of industrial medicine with a full time director and to put into effect regulations necessary to keep the service what it should be.

Dr. Millar outlined the work that has been done by doctors in this field during the war years by working right in the various plants, and continued: "It is probable that when these war plants revert to private work, that our showing will induce the management of such plants to take on the expense and continue the work; but we are a little fearful of letting the employer control the service. We think that without outside control and guidance the industrial surgeon may become nothing more than a glorified first aid service and a convenience for his employer."

Dr. G. O. Matthews reported for the committee on emergent epidemics, and said that if at any time in the future British Columbia should have visited upon us "a catastrophe such as a virulent pandemic, we will have in every locality in our province a committee that is forearmed, organized and well prepared to quickly throw the necessary material resources and personnel into combating it. An epidemic, if any, will be widespread, and so we are happy to report our present plan of decentralization."

During Wednesday afternoon the College of Physicians and Surgeons of B.C., under the chairmanship of Dr. H. H. Milburn, held a discussion on voluntary health insurance schemes and heard A. L. McLeellan, secretary of the Medical Services Association, explain the work of his group. Dr. S. C. MacEwan, director of medical services for the group, discussed the plan from the professional viewpoint.

Wants Smoke House

Application to operate a fish smoking plant at the foot of Yates Street was made to the City Council today by W. Babcock of Babcock Fisheries.

"The business carried on will be mostly for the T. Eaton Co. to supply its 14 Western Canadian outlets and a wholesale meat packer," said the letter to the council.

It is proposed to erect the smoking building which will be six square feet by 16 square feet high inside a building owned by the Vancouver Barge and Transportation Co., being sub-letted in part to the Babcock Fisheries.

"May I point out," said Mr. Babcock in the application, "that the quantity of smoke used in this size of smoke house would not be greater than what would come from two ordinary house chimneys. All fish used will be cured and no smell will result."

Scores Overcrowding In Mental Homes

Contrary to popular belief, said Dr. G. H. Stevenson, London, Ont., professor of psychiatry, at the University of Western Ontario, at the B.C. Medical Association Convention today, there is very little evidence to show that mental diseases are on the increase.

There was, however, overcrowding in many mental hospitals in Canada to an extent he classed as "disgraceful."

Dr. Stevenson outlined the component parts of good mental health and mental hygiene principles. He said that most people were agreed that the frankly defective, epileptic and mentally ill should not reproduce, nor should many borderline cases. He continued, "It should be borne in mind, nevertheless, that mental diseases are not inherited as such. Only predispositions are inherited, so that children born of tainted stock may, with proper guidance and training, live mentally healthy lives."

Rex Eats Again

Rex lost his interest in food when his mistress, Helen Geurtsen, left him at home in Milwaukee, Wis., while she migrated to Long Beach, Calif. For 17 days her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Geurtsen, watched Rex grow weaker as he refused to accept food. Then came a telephone call from the west coast. Mrs. Geurtsen lifted Rex to the receiver, as shown above, and the dog heard his mistress' voice. Now he's eating again.

Flood Air Army Tried to Dodge

To avoid a land army advance through flooded areas like this the British 1st Airborne Army was dropped from the sky into southeastern Holland in a move in which Gen. Eisenhower attempted to outfox the Nazis who had opened the dykes, flooded the fertile Holland farmlands, hoping to stem the Allied advance on the Reich. The photo shows one of the flooded areas, with a German sentry near a now useless pillbox.

'Peanut Sized' Raid On Superfort Base Attempted By Japs

U.S. SUPERFORTRESS BASE, WEST CHINA (AP) — A dozen Japanese medium bombers raided this Superfortress base Tuesday night in a "peanut sized" retaliation for the attack on enemy industry Tuesday at Anshan in Manchuria.

The raid was virtually harmless although the alert lasted two hours and a half and drove the exuberant U.S. pilots into muddy foxholes. No B-29 was destroyed; no runway was hit.

No plane was lost in the attack on Anshan. The great bombers carried larger loads of explosives than on the previous attack on Anshan because the planes have been improved and new techniques have been developed.

Small diversionary forces of B-29 hit docks and warehouses at Dalren, all bulging with war goods piled up as a result of the enemy shipping shortage. Several planes also bombed rail yards at Sensiang, in China.

Incomplete reports put Japanese fighter losses over Manchuria at six destroyed, six probably downed and 12 damaged.

Famous Slaying Closed With Death in France

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A soldier's death in France closed the book on one of the country's most publicized slayings—the 1934 Thanksgiving shooting of socially prominent John F. Gorrell.

The war department notified Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer his 28-year-old son, Phil Kennamer, paroled from a 25-year manslaughter sentence in the Gorrell slaying to become a paratrooper, was killed in action Aug. 15.

His death somewhere in France was the latest development in a case which received nation-wide attention through a decade of trial, appeals and clemency petitions.

Gorrell's body, shot twice through the head, was found in an automobile, in a Tulsa residential district at midnight, and a week later Kennamer appeared at the sheriff's office to surrender. He said he shot in self-defense.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES
FADING PHOTOGRAPHS

SOMETHING SENT me down to the basement the other day to search in a long-closed trunk.

As I delved into its contents I came across things I had forgotten I possessed. It was like opening a chest of half-forgotten memories.

Have you ever kept an old trunk full of odds and ends, the kind that accumulate over the years?

As the poet, writing on a locked box, describes it, one keeps:

"A child's geography with colored maps,
A shell that makes a curious murmuring sound,
A steamship guide with pictures crude and blurred
Or white ships sailing by a palm-green shore—
Java, Sumatra, Bangkok, Singapore.
A strange bright feather from some foreign bird."

ODD ASSORTMENT

MY ASSORTMENT of oddments certainly included "a strange bright feather from some foreign bird."

But it was in the shape of a hair band, made of gorgeous iridescent kingfisher feathers, mounted on metal, which was sent to me from the Orient years ago. I didn't find a steamship guide, but I did discover the final menus of the boat on which I last crossed to England—together with the signatures of my fellow-passengers at the captain's table.

Also several odd theatre programs, some of them dating back to memorable "first nights" in London over 30 years ago.

Among them was that of Arthur Bourcier's production of Pinero's famous play, "The Walls of Jericho." And an indelible pencil mark recalled the ring made by my husband around one of my tears which splashed on to the program, when I was overcome by youthful emotion!

QUAINT PORTRAITS

A BEAUTIFUL LITTLE hand-painted fan, with a broken mother-of-pearl stick, revived memories of girlhood parties long forgotten.

But it was over the old photographs that I lingered the longest.

And chortled the loudest! Why is it that we look so funny in bygone pictures—even funnier than we do today?

A quaint little fading picture showed me at the ripe age of four, looking very shy, and with very curly hair. Natural curls, I hasten to emphasize—in these days of "perms" for children.

A snapshot of me as a bridesmaid at a cousin's wedding—just when I was about 15.

and in the gangly stage, all arms and legs and wrists and ankles.

POMPADOUR PERIOD

ANOTHER—circa, 1908, as they say of other antiques—when I had grown to the "pompadour" stage of hair dressing—my first "up hair-do."

And on the roll of hair atop my face was superimposed a hat that certainly was a hat! An enormous creation of wisteria blue straw, with a bandeau of pink and blue forget-me-nots, to say nothing of matching blue velvet ribbon and whatnot.

Memories of our honeymoon on the Rhine came crowding back as I unearthed a small photograph of us taken in front of an old Cistercian abbey in the Siebengebirge district near Koenigswinter.

My English tweeds, tailored hat of burnt straw, with a handful of cherries for trimming, and walking stick were fitting complement to my husband's ditto tweeds, straw hat and walking stick.

CANDID CAMERA SHOTS

AS I ONCE before recorded in these columns, I am allergic to cameras, and the hiatus between that honeymoon snap and the next in my collection suggests that I was camera-shy for a long period.

For the next one I unearthed showed us in Kamloops, just before the last war.

And my melancholy expression suggests that I had not yet got over my homesickness.

While that of my husband is notable for revealing that he still had hair at that time. Today it is gone—but not forgotten.

Last among those fading mementoes of younger days is a group taken in the very early '20s.

Once again I am in the inevitable tailored suit, but with a hat, boasting a jam-pot crown and brim of enveloping proportions, standing at the Malahat Lookout.

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR

DESPITE the old-fashioned look of my get-up, there is an international flavor about that timeworn snapshot.

For one of the group was Dr. Bartolo, well-known newspaper proprietor of Malta, who died a few years ago; the other an editorial writer from the Times of India, Bombay.

And the picture was taken by an Irish member of a Dublin newspaper staff.

As I put them all back among the other oddments, I decided one day to steel myself to consign them to a bonfire.

But in the meantime, they must "lie neglected, like old portraits, lumbering in the dark."
